Iran's Foreign Policy, 1941-1973

A Study of Foreign Policy
in Modernizing Nations

By Rouhollah K. Ramazani

xv, 507 pp., maps, bibliog., app., index. $20.00

The seal of Iran

Rouhollah K. Ramazani, author of the prize-winning study of the foreign policy of Iran from 1500 to 1941, describes and analyzes Iran's foreign policy from 1941 through 1973 in this sequel to his previous volume. He thoroughly examines Iran's major foreign decisions, problems, commitments, and courses and consequences of action over the past three decades. Numerous statistical tables, specially prepared for this study, compare Iran's social, economic, and military capabilities with those of a variety of other states.
